Rhododendron Sunday - Mom's Day

George Guthrie (in vest) answers visitors' questions about rhodies.

To commemorate Shore Acres 50th anniversary as a state park, Rhododendron Sunday, Mother's Day was celebrated with the theme, Where were you in '42?

A 1940's hat display and memorabilia relating to women of World War II plus petit fours and punch were enjoyed by visitors to the Garden House.

This annual event always brings many people to the Gardens and many of them have questions about rhododendrons, as well as gardening questions in general. George Guthrie, Shore Acres' landscape supervisor, was there to answer their questions.

The Dow family (on bench in photo) asked George to identify a bright pink rhody, unlike any in the Gardens; one that he had never seen before. Pictures were taken and George said he would do some research to get them an answer.

PARKS COMMISSION WELCOMED BY FRIENDS

More than a hundred people attended the celebration dinner held May 13th to greet Oregon State Parks Commissioners. A special thanks to Celia Sheridan and Ron Hjort for making the arrangements and to Marty Crouse and Chris Rosman for a delightful musical interlude before and during dinner.

Local guests included State Representative Walt Schroeder, Oregon Department of Transportation Commissioner John Whitty, representatives from the Bureau of Land Management, Coos County Parks, Coos Bay city government, and many guests of Friends of Cape Blanco and Friends of Shore Acres. Also attending were state parks staff from Salem and throughout Region 3.

The program included presentations from Commissioner Lynn Newbry, Friends of Shore Acres President David Bridgham, Friends of Cape Blanco President Bill Sweet, and Cape Blanco curator Jack Zaring. Recognition was given to Les and Dorothy Wall and Paul and Bert Kuper of Friends of Yaquina Bay Lighthouse for the Governor's Annual Volunteerism Award they received April 29 in Salem.

The State Parks Commission was holding its regular quarterly meeting in Coos Bay; topics included permit fee amendments, RV registration fees, and the Upper McKenzie Scenic Waterway Rules. A budget workshop held in the afternoon prior to the dinner considered many different possibilities in budget discussions for the 1993-1995 biennium - both in the form of increasing revenues and budget reductions. A more definite budget will be prepared for the commission's June meeting with final budget approval scheduled for July. By August 1, it will be sent to the governor, who will review it prior to sending it to the Oregon State Legislature at the outset of its 1993 session in January.

FIRST SHORE ACRES BIATHLON - A BIG SUCCESS

It was a sunny and warm May 9th. The event - a biathlon race - 5K run, 20K bike, 5K run. Twenty-eight hardy souls turned out to either run and bike the course solo, or team up to run or bike with one other participant.

Race director Eric Hamner coordinated volunteers to plan and put on the event. These volunteers were from Friends of Shore Acres, South Coast Running Club, city and county police reserves, and an amateur radio club.

Participants commented after the race that it was a challenging and beautiful course and they're looking forward to a tradition of biathlons at Shore Acres.

The start/finish/transition area was near the large field at Shore Acres. Runners left the park and ran south to Simpson Reef viewpoint, then back to Shore Acres (5K). Bikers left the park and biked north to the Bastendorff Beach area, then back to Cape Arago for a turn-around, then back to Shore Acres (20K). The remaining 5K run was a repeat of the first.

Top finishers, awarded myrtlewood plaques, were Nick Furman (male solo); Alan and Karen Participants look forward to a tradition of biathlons.

Hirschmugl (mixed team); Cindy Evanow and Amy Lovean (female team); and Larz Richardson and Joel Jenkins (male team).

THANKS - Tamara Nelson, assistant race director; Elise and Eric Hamner, Gourmet Coastal Coffees (coffee, refreshments and bike racks); Thomas and Son Distributors (water bottles and Pepsi cups); City of Coos Bay (traffic cones); South Coast Running Club (race clock); Nick Furman (t-shirt design); Friends volunteers - Frank, Donna, and Mike Smith; Carol Ventgen and Mike Perkins; Wally Johnson; and David and Shirley Bridgham.

Reserves: Coos County Sheriff's Office-Jim Brende, John Goodwin, Greg Dimit, Charlie Cicorria, and Lisa Bode; from Coos Bay Police Department: Kelley Andrews, Greg Jones, Jason Patterson, Scott LaFevre, Lee Pierson and Andy Osborn; North Bend Police Department-Tom Griffin, Char So, and Dan Gray.

Ham radio operators from the Coos County Radio Club included Ken Bonsall, Joe Davis, Kevin Harkins, Mike Jantzen, Peter Jones, John McReynolds, George Toth, and Carl Siminow.

Participants said the course was challenging and beautiful.

Pond Cleaning

by Gregg Nelson, Bureau of Land Management

In 1989 I heard that members and volunteers of the Friends of Shore Acres were volunteering to clean the reflecting pond in the Oriental Garden at Shore Acres. As a Friend, I thought this was my chance to get out and make a time commitment to the park - after all, it's one of the places I take all my out-of-town visitors, and the least I could do is give something back to help it stay beautiful.

I talked two of my co-workers into helping, and the three of us, along with many of the Friends, donned our raingear and rubber boots, and waded into the muck. We spent several hours scraping, sweeping, and shoveling the mud from the sides and bottom of the pond, picking up coins, and trimming back vegetation. This was hard work, but enjoyable, since we knew a clean pond would be our reward. The worst was the last, when the muck got so thick, and the only way to get rid of it was to bucket it into wheelbarrows, and haul it away.

What was the problem? George Guthrie showed me. The drain was only about 4" across; with a gate valve that only opens half-way, reducing the flow to about a 2" pipe, which keeps clogging; and the drain is a foot higher than the lowest point in the pond - and for a flat-bottom pond, that adds up to a lot of water and muck.

I told George that I thought we could solve part of the problem by borrowing equipment and getting some volunteers from

Next year will be easier thanks to BLM engineers.

the Bureau of Land Management (BLM - that's where I work). The BLM has water pumps for fires that we could use to pump the water and muck out of the pond.

So for the next two years, 15-20 BLM volunteers with good attitudes (you need one to shovel muck) came out with pumps, shovels, brooms, buckets, and wheelbarrows to help the Friends. But the basic problem with the drain remained.

In March of 1992, Arnie Nee and David Rosenkrance, two BLM engineers, went out to the gardens and surveyed the bottom of the pond. Dennis Graham used the survey to plot a contour map with 0.2 foot contours, which showed the low point, the old drain, and the out-flow area under the bridge. Dennis designed a new drain, and presented the plans to George and Andy LaTomme for approval. All we needed to install the new drain was a clean pond.

The date was set for the weekend before Mother's Day. I posted "Volunteers Needed" signs on all the BLM office doors, with information on what-where-when. On Friday, BLMers Ron Patnode, Chris Hamilton, Al Swanson and I loaded up all the equipment, and got ready for the Saturday cleaning. Saturday morning Ron drove to the park with a fire truck, and we laid down some fire hose to wash down the pond. We started pumping water from the pond, and waited for the volunteers.

By 9:30 the pond was swarming with help - twenty-five BLM family members (14 adults and 11 children), plus four Friends. Together we pumped out the pond, picked up coins, caught goldfish, frogs, and newts, trimmed the brush, and hauled away the muck. The final hour was the same back-breaking-bucket-brigade labor as the last few years, but this time >>> everyone knew it was the last time.

On Monday Dennis, Arnie, David, and I were joined by Bill Huret (BLM), George Guthrie, and two Shutter Creek inmates. We cut open the pond with a cement saw, dug under the existing drain, installed a new drain, and cemented the whole thing back up. By Mothers Day the pond was refilled.

Thanks go to Mel Chase (BLM's District Manager, who OK'd the use of the equipment) and Lillie Hikida (supervisor to Dennis, Arnie, David, and Bill). Many thanks also to the volunteers: Chris, Kate, Whitney, and Laurel Hamilton; Jon, Brian, and Kathryn Menten; Jack Vaughn; Ray and Dottie Orazem; Mel Chase; Vicki Ursitti; John Schwartz; Gregg, Connie, Erika, and Travis Nelson; Bob Golden; Scott Knowles; Ron and Louis Patnode; Christian Lorenz; John, Jeremy, and Tim Fields; Alan Hoffmeister; Connie and Arianne Eslinger; Cranson Fosburg; Donna Fawcett; and George Guthrie. Thanks also go to the crew who surveyed the pond and put in the new drain; the Friends for providing coffee, donuts, oranges, pop, and pizza; and Luis Velasquez - local photographer and Friend, who captured everyone's hard work on film.

Hopefully, the next time the pond is cleaned, we only need to pull the plug, hose it down, and count the money.

New Assistant at Sunset Bay

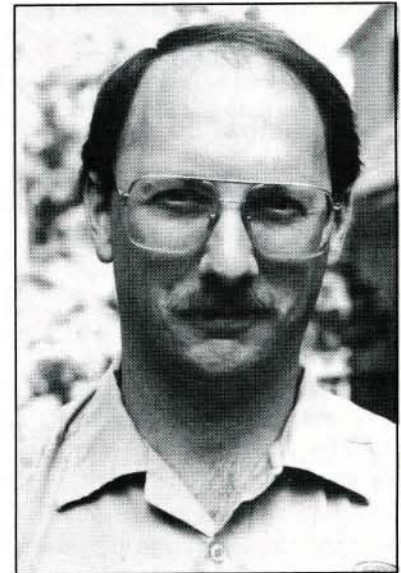

by Andy LaTomme, Sunset Bay Park District Manager

If good things are worth waiting for, Sunset Bay's new Assistant District Manager must be great -- it took over ten months to fill the vacancy created when Bill Moragne moved to Farewell Bend State Park.

Dan Lucas comes to us most recently from Willamette Mission State Park in the Champoege State Park District. However, Dan is not new to Sunset Bay, having worked as a Park Ranger in the Shore Acres gardens during 1983.

Dan Lucas - New Assistant

Actually, Dan and I go back a lot further than that. I worked for his dad, Owen Lucas (presently the Eastern Oregon Region Supervisor) at Fort Stevens State Park from 1972 -1976. I first met Dan when he joined my Boy Scout troop in Warrenton. Boy, suddenly I feel old -- Dan and his wife Rickie now have three children: Kristy, age 9; Kimberly, age 6; and Kevin, age 5. When he was here the last time, they had only one.

Although Dan has worked for State Parks for 12 years, he has over 30 years of park experience, having lived in Bullards Beach, Sunset Bay, and Fort Stevens State Parks as a boy. (Take it from me, living in a park gives you and your kids a lot of park experience.) "With a lifetime of park work for background experience," he says, "other careers weren't even seriously considered."

Dan is looking forward to the management challenges associated with a complex park operation like Sunset Bay. Close work with a volunteer co-op will be a new experience for him, too. "I really appreciate the work that volunteers can do for our parks and their visitors. I'm looking forward to the Friends' summer events, and my family and I can't wait for Christmas." (He can say that because he's never put up or taken down 100,000 lights.)

GARDEN NOTES

by George Guthrie, Landscape Maintenance Superintendent

In the words of Dorothy getting back to Kansas (and George arriving at Shore Acres) - there's no place like home! After nine months of helping out at Sunset Bay and lots of pencil pushing and paper shuffling, it was actually a treat to get my hands dirty planting pansies and harassing weeds in the garden.

Thanks to the entire gang at Sunset Bay for all their patient assistance in my "learning experience" at the campground. A special thanks to Frank, Ellie, and the whole Shore Acres crew for keeping the faith, holding the fort, and doing a super job of keeping the garden green and growing.

I hope that most of you got a chance to check out the spring flowers at Shore Acres. The dry warm weather may have been somewhat scary to gardeners worrying about drought - but the tulips loved it - no rain to spot the petals, no wind to break the stems (wow) - one of the best "shows" I've ever seen. Thank you, Ma Nature for that and thanks also for some rain later on in the month to keep everything else clean and green.

The annual muck-raking (A.K.A. pond clean-up) went off without a hitch and thanks goes to BLM volunteers spearheaded by Gregg Nelson and Dennis Graham for devising and installing a new and improved drainage system that should make next year's pond scum troubles go down the drain in a New York minute!

Now that I've got the "thank-you's" out of the way, I can move right on to the "good byes" -'cause your humble 'n obedient correspondent is getting set to go to England for two weeks of intense garden hopping, flower finding and similar fun stuff in some of the famous places like Kew and Exbury. I'm really looking forward to this and should I survive the trip, I hope to share some travel tidbits with you in the next newsletter. Until then, have fun - I know I will !!

THE LUNCH BUNCH - HUNGRY BEACH CLEANERS

It rained ... and it was cold ... but that didn't stop more than 400 volunteers from cleaning Oregon's beaches, Saturday, March 14th. The annual clean-up effort in our area was coordinated by Region Beach Coordinator Linda Wilcox and Sunset Coordinator Shirley McGuire. Out of a state-wide total of nearly 8 tons, local volunteers cleaned up 3,025 pounds.

Volunteers were cold, wet, and hungry!

Besides the self-satisfaction that comes from a job well done, volunteers also received a free lunch at Sunset Bay State Park. Andy LaTomme grilled the hot dogs and Friends volunteers Bob and Doris Emmett, David Bridgham, and Bill Traviss helped serve. Coos Bay Safe-way provided the food and the Friends added hot coffee.

Watch for fall clean-up date and help keep Oregon's beaches beautiful!

Shoreacres Memories

by Cranson Fosburg

I moved to Shoreacres in 1914 with my father and mother, Seymour and Dillie Fosburg. My father took care of the stock and my mother cooked for a crew of six to nine men who lived in the cookhouse. We came to the area from Portland on the boat, The Bridgewater. A horse and wagon met us at Charleston. There was a dirt road that went back of the foreman's cottage at Shoreacres. The foreman was J.R. (Jack) Brown, a Scottish man. I was about 5 years old and the only child on the estate.

My father was in charge of the deer park, the chicken houses, the dairy cows, and a thoroughbred trotting horse, King. I got to ride him sometimes. Later he was given to my father. I would play with the tame deer that had a 12-foot fence around their enclosure. One could see the first mansion across the cliffs from the deer park.

The chickens were Rhode Island Reds that were good egg layers. There were 5 chicken coops. I imagine the eggs were sold to Byler's store in North Bend. The milk from the dairy cows was taken by the milk boat Vega to Charleston and sold locally. L.J. Simpson had a big prize bull that was taken to the State Fair. I do not remember if it won a ribbon.

My father worked on the estate until 1918.

Some of the people that I remember were Ray Dunson, the lighthouse keeper - we used to join his family at the lighthouse [Cape Arago] for Christmas. We could go across the bridge then. J.R. Brown used to play Santa Claus.

E.B. Leon was the second gardener foreman after Jack Brown. Tom Wasson ran the Sunset Bay Inn. I imagine L.J. owned it, but Tom ran it. I remember how the horses would have to run through between the waves at Sunset Beach. One of the crew on the estate was Jim Richardson, who later became police chief of Portland.

I was in Mansion #1 several times. I used to get in the bolsters of the beds and roll around and play. There was a ballroom on the third floor. The picture J.R. Brown gave us shows a large living room. There were nine Navajo rugs on the hardwood floors and Persian rugs over the staircase. The fireplace was made of stone and there was a chandelier on the mantel. There was a large desk in the middle of the room, wicker furniture, soft stuffed chairs and a sofa. A player piano was under the staircase.

I have a picture taken by the pond that shows a large round rock with a fountain coming out of it to a basin. There was a carriage house in the trees to the north of the mansion. The pergola was next to the gardener's house. The walkways were made out of sand from Shell Island. Next to the barn was the power plant for electricity.

J.R. (Jack) Brown - Simpson's first gardener foreman

EDITOR'S NOTE: Cranson Fosburg, a retired forester and photographer, is a member of the Friends. He's an avid pond cleaner and always helps park cars for the Music Festival. In 1990 he agreed to be interviewed by Linda Comstock for the Friends Living History Project. Recently he gave us the photo of J.R. Brown and a copy of a merit certificate awarded to Brown by the Scotch Education Department which states "The Lords of the Committee of the Privy Council on Education in Scotland, Hereby Certify that John Brown a Scholar in Edinburgh James Gillespie's School having been examined in June 1899 has show, thorough proficiency in Reading, Writing, Arithmetic and English according to the requirements for the Merit Certificate, and has received efficient instruction in an approved curriculum of studies embracing the following subjects: Geography and British History." Thanks for the memories, Cranson.

GIFT AND INFORMATION CENTER

by Tony Mason, Manager

During March the weather was unseasonably clear and warm. Spring flowers started their colorful show early and people were in the garden soaking it all in. The inventory had been taken out of storage and placed on the shelves. Then the rains came. And thus our season began on the first weekend of April.

Who knows what the rest of the season will bring, but we are looking forward to it here in the GaIC. Shore Acres will celebrate fifty years as a state park in December. In anticipation of that event, the Gift and Information Center will have several new items. Besides the limited edition poster (proceeds of which go to a memorial fountain), we will have a 50th sweatshirt and t-shirt, a gold mylar postcard/sticker, plus an etched, clear glass coffee mug. All items should be available in the Center by the first of June.

Watch for a series of six postcards of historical photographs of L.J. Simpson's Shoreacres estate, as well as some new books - including nature, cooking, and children's subjects. Not only will the GaIC have these new items, it will continue to stock the fine variety of quality books, audio/video tapes, clothing and notecards that you have come to expect. So come on out, enjoy the spring garden displays and talk to one of our volunteers. Our greatest joy is sharing the park with you.

If you would like to order any item stocked in the GaIC, send a list of the item(s) you wish to purchase including the code number (if known), quantity, size, description, price and your address to: Gift and Information Center - Mail Order, Friends of Shores Acres, Inc., P.O. Box 1172, Coos Bay OR 97420. Don't forget to send a check or money order for the total amount plus 10% for shipping and handling. Minimum order is $10 (except for notecard only orders, which are $2 each, including shipping/handling), Sorry, no membership discounts on mail order items. For more information call me, Tony Mason, at 396-5792. All proceeds go to support interpretive, educational and physical development programs developed by the Friends for Shore Acres State Park and other parks in the Sunset Bay Park District.

If you would like to help staff the Gift and Information Center, please contact Ellen Garner at 888-3484.

Memorial Contributions will fund reconstruction of Garden Fountain.

Have you been missing the wonderful sights and sounds of a lively fountain on the central walk at Shore Acres Gardens?

The Friends have developed a plan to rebuild the fountain using memorial contributions.

and now

Memorial contributions of $25 or more will be acknowledged with a personal token of remembrance.

- The donor will receive a signed numbered special edition poster commemorating Shore Acres' 50th Anniversary - 1942-1992.
- The gift will be recorded in a Memorial Journal to be displayed in the new Gift and Information Center.

6TH ANNUAL HOLIDAY LIGHTS AND OPEN HOUSE AT SHORE ACRES '92

December 10 - January 3
4 pm - 10 pm every night (including Christmas Eve, Christmas, and New Year's Eve)

It's nearly time to think about checking lights, baking cookies, decorating the garden house, and hosting and entertaining visitors. A barbershop chorus from Canby has already reserved a time to sing.

Those of you that expressed interest in the planning process will be contacted after the Oregon Coast Music Festival in July. With more than 100,000 lights planned for this year it's going to take a lot of us to get the job done!
